Tokio Also Hears That the Commander of the Garrison Has Asked for an Armistice-Russians Say They Fear Massacre if Japanese Should Win.

Special Cable Despatches to THE SUN BERLIN, Nov. 10 .- The Lokal Anzeiger prints a Tokio despatch saying that Gen. Nogi, commanding the troops before Port Arthur, is fully empowered to negotiate with Gen. Stoessel, the Russian commander, for the surrender of Port Arthur. The capitulation of the fortress is expected to occur to-morrow.

Japan is inclined to offer acceptable conditions. Gen. Nogi has been notified that he will be held personally responsible for any excesses by his troops.

TORIO, Nov. 10 .- It is reported that Gen. Stoessel, the General in command at Port Arthur, has asked for an armistice, but for what purpose is not said.

The Japanese are angered at the alleged abuse of their wounded by the Russians. The Russians believe that they will be murdered if captured. Hence they fear a massacre after the final assault upon Port Arthur.

An official report states that the northern heavy guns on Nov. 6 and set on fire. The magazine of the old battery on Sungshushan was exploded by Japanese shells on the same day.

CHEFOO, Nov. 10 .- Fierce assaults upon the Itszeshan forts are said to have been repulsed. A Japanese shell on Sunday demolished a land mine, killing 600 Russians.

LONDON, Nov. 11 .- A correspondent of the Telegraph, dating his message Tientsin, says that while he was travelling to that port from Chefoo on Wednesday his steamer was overhauled by the Japanese cruiser Chiyoda, which fired two shots to compel the steamer to heave to, and then detained her for an hour and a haif questioning those on board of her.

There were three cruisers west of Port Arthur and some gunboats and torpedo boats close to land. 'The Japanese anticipate another naval battle at any hour, and are quite prepared for it. Their warships are circling around, closely watching for other vessels. Any ship passing within the twenty mile limit fixed by the blockaders will be fired on.

Although the Russians have protected the decks and hulls of their warships at Port Arthur with sandbags and other devices, it is asserted that the Japanese fire compels them continually to shift their positions. They are, therefore, about to make another sally.

LONDON, Nov. 11 .- It is impossible to say what probability is to be attached to the rumors of the ending of the ghastly struggle at Port Arthur. The latest refighting continuing there, but it is hinted from more than one source that the imprisoned warships are about to make another sortie.

Refugees who arrived at Chefoo in junks Thursday say that the explosion of the magazine Sungshushan killed eighty of the defenders. The Japanese continue to excavate winter quarters in the hillsides.

The Chefoo correspondent of the Telegraph says that the military authorities st that two empty junks be constantly kept at Liactishan ready for emergenices. and it is only when there are more than two there that Chinese refugees are allowed to leave Port Arthur.

They reach Chefoo in a wretched state. The soldiers take their shoes and coats. Their emaciation shows their sufferings from starvation. The correspondent says it is a mistake to suppose that these Chinese wilfully lie about the position at Port Ar-

ELECTION WORRIES RUSSIA. Heped for a Rebuke of Secretary Hay's Foreign Policy.

Special Cable Deepatch to THE SUN. ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 10 .- The extent of the popular indorsement President Roosewalt has received is a matter of serious concern to-day with Government officers. They show in conversations on the subject that they had hoped for at least a narrower majority. This, they hold, would have indicated that many Americans preferred that the State Department should relax its attitude as regards America's commercial interests in China, including Manchuria,

An officer of the Foreign Office has recalled the fact that Secretary of State Hay. after he had signed the commercial treaty between China and the United States, which he did after the outbreak of the war appointed Consuls to Mukden, Newchwang and Antung

They have not entered upon the performance of their duties, owing to the military eituation; but in view of the American nation's approval of Secretary Hay's policy, it is thought he will not wait indefinitely before pressing the contention that Manchuria is an integral part of the Chinese empire, to which America is entitled to have commercial access.

The same authority described Secretary Hay's attitude in foreign affairs since the beginning of the war as correct and courteous, although Russia believed it had reason to think that Japan relied upon America's approval when she was pressing the claims which led to the war.

Government circles in general regard Roosevelt's election with deep disappointment, although the editorials in the newspapers express only a coloriess regret at the growth of imperialism in America.

Government influences are propagating the report that President Roosevelt is really a Jew, named Rosenfeld, which explains his action in pressing for the removal of the obstacles that exist in the way of Jews visiting Russia.

has signed an urgency ordinance authorizing the issue abroad of a loan of $60,000,000. The terms excite considerable surprise in financial circles, where it was confidently expected that more favorable conditions than the usurious rate of interest paid on the first loan would be secured.

It is felt with deep regret that the truth about the Japanese financial situation is not known or is not appreciated abroad even by Japan's allies.

TROUP WRITES BRYAN ON THE "UNSAFE AND INSANE."

Says They Are Still at Large and Heady for Future Fighting-Heinze's Defeat in Montana Complete-The Republicans to Go After North Carolina.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.-Alexander Troup, the leader of the Bryan Democrats in Connecticut and ex-Democratic national committeeman from Connecticut, said this evening that it was his belief that the radicals would have to assume control of the Democracy again or that there would be a repetition of Tuesday's downfall. Mr. Troup wrote as follows to William J. Bryan:

"The safe, sane and conservatives had their inning on Tuesday and 'the unsafe and insane are still at large and ready to do battle for the principles of 1896 and 1900."

do battle for the principles of 1896 and 1900."

In regard to prospective reorganization, Mr. Troup said he knew nothing.

"I have decided," he continued, "that the people who could not support Bryan in 1896 and 1900 ought either to join the Republican party or to flock by themselves. There is not room enough in the same party for people of such divergent views as those who bolted the platform of those years and those who remained loyal to it. I believe the Watson movement was made in good faith and that Watson and his followers were sincere. Unable to subscribe to the platform adopted at St. Louis, Mr. Watson formed a separate party, and I am convinced that there is nothing in the assertion that it was done to disconcert the safe and sane wing."

In transmitting the best wishes of the Cuban people I express my own sentiments."

NOT ENOUGH VOTES

Is Tom Taggart's Smiling Explanation of Democratic Defeat.

Chairman Tom Taggart of the Demo cratic national committee came to town yesterday. He wore the same smile he took away with him when he went to Indiana two weeks ago announcing that Judge Parker was assuredly elected.

Chairman Tom said last night that he was not cast down. "There is nothing was not east down. "There is nothing humiliating in the result of the election," he said as he smiled again. "It has been simply a Republican year, and no matter what candidate the Democrats might have put up he would have had no chance. The Democratic party has been defeated, but it is still in the ring."

When asked for his opinion as to the cause of the sweeping Republicar victory.

Of the proposal to reorganize the Demo-cratic party he said it was too early to talk at present. He saw August Belmont, William F. Sheehan and De Lancey Nicoll.

HEINZE'S DEFEAT COMPLETE. Montana Election Returns Show That His

Political Influence Is Gone. BUTTE, Mon., Nov. 10.-Complete returns from Butte and Silver Bow county make certain the reelection of Theodore Brantley Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court, and George M. Bourquin and Michael Donlan, District Judges in Butte, the three having been rated by F. A. Heinze as "Amalgamated Judges." Their election is a pronounced defeat for Heinzeism in Montana politics. It is the first time in eight years that an anti-Heinze Judge has been elected in Butte. The State Legislature is also Republican, which insures a defeat for any attempt to repeal the "change of venue" and "fair trial" laws, on which Heinze made a special fight. State returns are not complete, but the figures thus far returned show a majority of Republican candidates on the State ticket elected, with Toole, Democrat, for Governor, all being rated by Heinze as Amalgamated. All that Heinze saved is the legislative ticket and a few minor county offices in Butte.

WOMAN IN TIME OF DANGER. When Prightened She Can Be Depended On to Do Something Unusual.

From the Chicago Tribune. Speeding down Michigan avenue the other vening in his automobile with a feminine companion, Sidney Gorham, secretary of the Automobile Club, suddenly spied a cat in the middle of the road staring at his headlight.

"Now, I'm going to get that cat," he remarked to his companion, who earnestly begged him to desist. "No," he persisted, there are too many stray cats prowling about in the world already," and he speeded Nixon, Republican Floor Leader James T. his automobile straight ahead. Within five feet of the bewildered nimal, which, for some strange reason, had not budged, the girl leaned forward in her intense sympathy for the poor cat about to be crushed. Gorham, running his machine at the rate of 25 miles an hour, suddenly veered to the He saved the cat, but pretty nearly lost his companion, who, unable to preserve her poise, went pitching out of the vehicle, he catching her by the coat just in time to save a catastrophe. This is only one of the many incidents in which the "eternal feminine" will do an unusual or unguarded thing in the presence of sudden fright. Not that women are any more susceptible to loss of presence of mind than men, generally. On the contrary, from the testimony of those who have bad wide experience in dealing with both sexes in the presence of scares of any kind, womer hold equal rank with men-in cases of fire runaways, in burglar frights and in automobile scares, in spite of the exception given.

"In fact," continues Mr. Gorman, speaking of automobiling, "I find my wife keeps her head just as well as I do, and the same thing is true of pretty nearly all the women I know. Of course, we don't have much to frighten us. Accidents are really much more rare than people generally suppose With confidence in their operator—when they are not scared out of it, as in the case I have just related-women do not always realize real danger when it comes.

The narrowest escape I ever had occurred when there were three women in my auto. I was running down a small hill over a narrow road with high banks on either side and only four feet of way when I spied a broken bottle in the middle of the track. I turned to the side, seeking to save my tire, when I suddenly found the wheels sliding down the bank. called instantly to the women to jump. Then I sat and waited. At that moment I would have taken a hundred dollars for that machine, which I paid $2,500 for. It looked as if it still might go over any moment and land at the bottom of the bank upside down. I managed to save it, but would you believe that when I asked those women to get out they simply giggled? I knew of course the switch was thrown and that we might be hurled into eternity any moment."

An energetic but inexperienced girl will act differently from a sympathetic or well poised woman. A case is related of one girl out in an automobile for the first time. The operator, who was likewise inexperienced, had the lever reversed and did not know it. Suddenly the machine tegan backing, driving straight for a curb. The energetic girl rose up and called "Whoa! Whoa!" much to the amusement of the crowd watching the performance. Her lack of reserve and loss of presence of mind manifested itself in the presence of sudden fright.

Another energetic woman, perfectly able to keep cool on all occasions, may perform a deed of real heroism in the case of sudden danger. "In fire soares," says Marshal Campion of Engine House 5, "I can't see but a woman is just as brave as a man any time. I pretty nearly lost my life once, and would have, had it not been for a woman. I was down in the basement of an old dance hall on the West Side, which was in a mase of flames, and I had simply lost my way. I called up in my dilemma, and it was a woman who stood at the head of the stairs and directed me out with flames sweeping about like mad. Still, women do lose their heads. Just a short time ago one woman came out of a burning building with her hat and bandbox and left $500 worth of jewels on her dresser. As luck would have it, though, they were buried in the plastering and she recovered

NO KNIFING, SAYS MURPHY.

PARKER HAD A LARGER PLU-RALITY HERE THAN BRYAN.

Tammany Chieftain Declares the Wigwam Worked Faithfully for the Judge and Asks Where Else in These Parts the Democrats Made so Good a Showing

Leader Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall issued a statement last night resenting the insinuations which have been made in some quarters that it had been known to the Tammany leaders before the election that there would be knifing of the Democratic National and State tickets. Explaining first his surprise at the result of the election and his belief that there was not a man in the country who could have fore seen what was actually to happen last Tuesday, he went on to say:

"The insinuation that knifing occurred and the statement that I gave out anteelection figures is base and untrue. Every Tammany district leader worked hard and loyally for the Democratic ticket, and if the results were not borne out as anticipated then it was all due to conditions over which we had no control and not due to any treachery. We all made an honest, conscientious effort. Because of this fact why should there be insinuations of knifing or laxity? This being untrue, why talk irresponsibly of a shake-up? I wish it distinctly understood that I furnished no ante-election estimates or figures, but I can say that the reports of the canvasses made in the various districts are now borne out by the results. As to the insinuation that the ticket was knifed, I can only point to the vastly reduced Democratic vote Tammany district leader worked hard and to the vastly reduced Democratic vote all over. Surely Tammany did not go into Illinois; still the reduced Democration into Illinois; still the reduced Democratic vote is also found there this year.

"Comparing the Bryan vote with the Parker vote, we find that Judge Parker received a larger plurality than Bryan, the figures being 28,000 as against 39,000, I believe. Really the only section in the country that gave Judge Parker a plurality is that included in Manhattan, Queens and The Bronx. Take my own Assembly district, for instance; it polled a vote larger than given in the last Mayoralty campaign. Surely no reasonable person can paign. Surely no reasonable person can charge us with apathy when these facts are considered.

"I have no reason to advance for the results, nor have I any statement to make affecting the question of a possible reorganization of the national Democratic party. I have nothing to do or say about that. I can say with emphasis, however, that the Democratic ticket was supported loyally and actively throughout by

Mystery in Liquor Barrels. Nathan Flauman of 151 Suffolk street was arrested yesterday by the Eldridge street police on the technical charge of selling liquor without a license. Miss Chrystal Herne, daughter of the late James A. Herne, will make her debut in vaudeville at Keith's next week in a playlet entitled "Between the Acts." Last season she was Nat Goodwin's leading woman in "My Wife's Husband," and "A Gilded Fool."

Calling Wild Turkeys. Have you ever called wild turkeys to you for the purpose of murdering them?" asked a man who is fond of hunting. "There is a vast difference between the call of the tame turkey and the call of a wild turkey, as much difference as there is between the habits of these fowls, and, as in the case of habits the difference in the call is due to the difference in environment.

*Unless you learn to mark this difference "Unless you learn to mark this difference you cannot deceive the wild strutter of the woods, for you must know he is about as shrewd a member as you can find; his sight is good and his hearing almost perfect. His good hearing enables him to catch the very slightest variation is the call, so if you strike the wrong key or happen to pitch the sound a bit too high, distance and weather conditions considered, he will not only refuse to gobble in reply to your 'yelping,' but will use both wings and legs in an effort to get away. And if you know anything about wild turkeys you know they are fleet of foot and are not slow of wing.

The best 'callers'—that is the technical name of the thing used to deceive the gobbler—are made of turkey bone, the lower bone of the fowl's leg, and if you can get a wild turkey bone for the purpose the results will be more satisfactory. It is curious, but in my own experience I have always found that 'callers' made of tame turkey bones are not as good as those made of a wild member's bone. The wild turkey bone seems to give the right ring to the call."

Why the Golf Player Would Marry.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal. Miss Charlotte Dod, the champion woman golfer of England, was talking at the Philadelphia Country Club about golf in Scotland.

"Golf in England is almost a disease," she said. "The passion and the perseverance that the Scot brings to golf are quite incredible. With innumerable players there is nothing—nothing—that can compare in their affections with the game.

"I heard not long ago of an elderly bachelor in Edinburgh who had played golf from his boyhood up. He was a lawyer and every minute he could steal from the courts was devoted to the links. This man didn't allow religion, society, or business to interfere with his daily golf. He had never courted a girl, because, he said, golf hadn't allowed him the time. "Hence, everybody was surprised one day to hear that the crusty old gentleman was to be married. A caddie—the caddies are men in Scotland—went to him, wrung him by the hand and said sentimentally:

RAN "AMOK" IN SINGAPORE. Murder Mad Sallor's Fearful Execution With a Knife.

From the Singapore Straits Times.
About 8:30 last night a terrible amok oc curred at Tanjong Pagar. The quiet neigh-borhood of Bernam street and Wallich and Anson roads was suddenly transformed into a scene of great panic. It appears that about 8:30 P. M. a West Indian suddenly attacked a Chinaman who was walking along the road in Bernam street and stabbed him in the throat with a sailor's clasp knife.

The unfortunate Chinaman fell to the ground with blood pouring from the wound in his throat. In a second the West Indian attacked a Malay and stabbed him in the side of the neck. Another Malay, who happened to be in the vicinity, ran to his countryman's assistance, but was also attacked and wounded by the infuriated madman. The wounded Malays raised the terrible cry of "Amok! amok!" which makes the blood turn cold on hearing it.

The greatest confusion and panic resulted The passersby and others in the busy streets stampeded. Cries and shouts were heard in a moment, and the terrified natives ran in all directions with the fear of death in their hearts. Doors banged everywhere and the piercing screams of the victims added to the horror of the scene. The amok pursued the flying natives and succeeded in stabbing four Chinamen in the back in Bernam street as they sought safety in flight. A Malay woman who lived in the vicinity heard the noise and came to the front door to see what it was all about. On seeing the savage face of the amok and the reeking knife in his hand, she turned to fly, but was too late. A blow from the knife in the back laid her low just inside her own doorstep. A Sikh jagah then pluckily attempted to seize the amok, but was furiously attacke by him. The Sikh was stabbed in the left ere, and also under the left arm as he tried to fell the madman with his heavy stick. A Chinaman who is said to be a mandore, or head coolie, was not daunted at the defeat of the Sikh, and pluckily grappled with the amok. The courageous Chinaman succeeded in seizing the madman's wrist and wrenching the knife away from him. Some other Chinamen then came to the assistance of their brave countryman, and the amok was overpowered and secured.

In the meantime Sergt. Leonard had received information of the smok, and hurried to the scene. He got there too late to secure the madman, and proceeded to collect the victims. It was then discovered that nine persons in all had been wounded, three o whom had severe injuries. The amok was found to have a bad wound on his probably caused by the blows from the Sikh jagah's stick. The amok told Sergt. ard at the police station that he was a West Indian named John Nathan.

Gold Remaining in the Klendike.

From the Washington Post. T. H. Mallory, of Berkeley, Cal., was one of the pioneers of the Klondike and one of the earliest to locate a good claim on El Dorado, the richest of all the wonderfully rich creeks of that district. In speaking of the Klondike and his personal experiences therein, Mr. Mallory said:

Mr. Mallory said:

"I doubt if such another great gold strike will ever again be made in this or any other country. There is no permanence to any other than quartz mining, and all the rich claims of the Dawson field are practically exhausted.

"The claim I held must have panned out first and last $1,000,000, although I sold it long before anything like this amount was realized. In those days it was no uncommon thing to take out from $300 to $500 a day, and I have taken as much as $1,000 in twenty-four hours. Such production is a thing of the past in the Klondice or any other part of Alaska, and although there is a great deal of gold up there yet, the rich pockets of the placer mines have been emptied. It is the same old story of the Australian and Californian strikes."
